

OBITUARY IN MEMORY OF HALLOWEEN

It is with heavy hearts that we announce the untimely death of Halloween, a beloved holiday celebrated eagerly by children and adults every October 31 for generations. Halloween was murdered in cold blood by Political Correctness, a suspect also charged in the deaths of Cinco De Mayo, Harambe memes, standup comedy, and a variety of hilariously themed college parties.

The loss of this treasured tradition will forever haunt fun loving Americans across the country who found so much joy in celebrating the holiday.

For decades, Halloween tradition encouraged people of all ages to assume a different identity for one night every year, allowing Americans to let loose and have fun while dressing up as their favorite Disney character, movie star, or public figure. Political Correctness, an increasingly powerful and bloodthirsty force in the cultural landscape, vilified these good humored, decent celebrants as "racist" perpetrators of "cultural appropriation" for donning sombreros, Pocahontas costumes, and kimonos in the spirit of the holiday.

Political Correctness's attack on Halloween was assisted by the rabid social justice warriors who stalk Twitter and Instagram, humorless university administrators, and out of touch liberals who see racism in so many innocent aspects of everyday life.

Halloween is survived by other holidays including Groundhog Day, Valentine's Day and the Fourth of July. Unfortunately, however, the same cannot be said for Thanksgiving, Columbus Day, and Christmas, all of which are rapidly falling victim to Political Correctness's ruthless reign of terror.

A funeral hosted by Young Americans for Freedom is scheduled on campus this October 31st. All are welcome to attend and celebrate the rich and beautiful life of this wonderful holiday. As a courtesy, there will be a coffin in which members of the campus community can dispose of their "culturally appropriated" Halloween costumes, since they will no longer be of use, lest students risk the wrath of the university's PC Police.

In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to Lena Dunham, whose career is struggling to recover from a brutal cannibalism attempt perpetrated by her fellow progressive social justice warriors.
